

I am in total agreeance with Indiana's Telephone privacy law. My wife and I work different shifts and the sleeping is on different times. Constant bothersome phone calls from unwanted and sometimes rude telemarketers is unwanted and unwarranted. I get enough "junk" mail and "junk" advertisement that I don't feel that I should have to waste my time (time with the family, helping children with homework, etc.) answering these bothersome people and have to explain to them why I don't want their item. If I wanted their product, I would go look for it.

Since implementing the Indiana Telephone Privacy law, the unwanted phone calls have diminished to zero. I used to receive 2 or 3 a night. This law has improved time with family. It has given the children more of an opportunity to receive help on homework and also the phone is not tangled up with "telemarketers" when we found out that a family member was in the hospital, which gave us the opportunity to get to the hospital.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
